Officers Are Told to Use Good Sense

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chief Justice Warren E. Burger advised police officers today to use "common sense" to reduce tensions and calm fears.

Recalling his own boyhood, Burger said dicretion by officers on the beat builds confidence between the people and the police.

On the other hand, he said in an address, a policeman who causes resentment intentionally is not doing his job.

As an example of the kind of police behavior he favors, the chief justice said that in many European countries traffic officers who stop a driver are required to have him leave the car so the family is out of earshot.

The chief justice recalled that when he sold newspapers as a boy in St. Paul, Minn., during Prohibition the "genial Irish policemen" on the beat only infrequently arrested the men who drank hard liquor at the local saloon. More often, Burger said, the officer helped carry the "hapless workingman" to his home and deposited him on the back porch.

"I emphasize it was the back porch, because this policeman had the wit and the decency to take the offending father of the family to the rear where the whole episode of his delivery would not be observed by the entire neighborhood," Burger told police chiefs graduating from an FBI class.

"Perhaps this may strike you as no more than an amusing anecdote, but the fact is, so far as I am concerned, it was a good example of a police officer exercising judgment of a high order.

"Discretion, in this sense, was common sense."

Ad Valorem Tax Called Inconsistent

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Richard W. Longing, director of the state Department of Commerce, said Tuesday that Arkansas' ad valorem tax laws were inconsistent and lacked clarity.

Longing said much of the confusion existed over whether the guidelines in the Assessment Coordination Division manual were mandatory for all county assessors. The division publishes a manual for county assessors to use in determining property assessment.

He said it was conceivable that each of the 75 counties "could use a different yardstick for ascertaining value, thereby resulting in unfair treatment for residents in some areas in comparison with residents of other regions of the state."

Longing is seeking federal aid from the U.S. Commerce Department to finance a study of Arkansas' ad valorem tax system in light of a California Supreme Court decision and a U.S. Supreme Court decision holding aspects of both states' property taxes unconstitutional. Longing said it was possible that all or part of Arkansas' property tax system might be ruled invalid.

Makes Long Trip Just to Vote

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — Eighteen-year-old Paul Martinelli flew home from Rome to vote Tuesday in his first election.

Paul, a college student in the Italian capital, had an extraordinary motive for making the journey. His father, Angelo, was a candidate for mayor of Yonkers, but the father lost.

Longest Living Transplant

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The man who has lived the longest with a transplanted heart, Louis B. Russell Jr., has lost a bid for a seat on the Indianapolis city-county council.

In an eight-man race for four seats on the council, Russell, a Democrat, placed sixth.

Russell received his new heart Aug. 24, 1968, in an operation at the Medical College of Virginia Hospital in Richmond.

Phase 2 to Allow Dividends to Go Up 4 Per Cent

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Phase 2 guideline for corporation dividends, allowing increases up to 4 per cent in 1972, was being viewed today as a suggested yardstick for the other post-freeze guidelines still to come.

The Committee on Interest and Dividends, headed by Chairman Arthur F. Burns of the Federal Reserve Board, announced its standard for voluntary dividend control late Tuesday.

The Burns committee thus became first of the new economic agencies to lay down its yardstick for anti-inflationary behavior when President Nixon's wage-price-rent freeze is replaced by Phase 2 controls.

But Burns 24 hours earlier had given public notice in effect that the curb on investors' dividen income should be in line with the coming controls on wage and salary income. He told the House Banking Committee Monday his committee felt that the permitted increases should be "equitably related to increases in the incomes of wage earners."

The 4-per-cent figure thus comes under discussion as a possible wage-increase guideline, since it now is endorsed officially as a standard for dividend income consistent with Nixon's goal of slowing inflation to a rate of 2 to 3 per cent by late 1972.

Both the 15-member, labor-management - industry Pay Board and the seven-member Price Commission have been holding closed meetings on their coming guidelines, but unofficial speculation on the wage question has focused on an average of 5 to 6 per cent.

Meantime, Nixon's request for extension of the wage-price control legislation to April 30, 1973, moved to the drafting stage in the House Banking Committee. A House vote next week is the committee's goal.

Some members are pressing for shorter extension of control powers beyond the presently scheduled expiration next April 30. This was on grounds that Congress should have a chance to review the operation of the controls some time during the next year.

Otherwise the committee seemed disposed to give Nixon essentially what he asked for—including standby authority to control interest rates and dividends.

Weather Takes on Touch of November

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Arkansas forecast is beginning to take on a touch of November.

Freezing temperatures are expected in the northwest portion of the state tonight with readings near the 32-degree mark forecast for the remainder of the northern portion of the state. Lows tonight in the southern portion of the state should be in the upper 30s.

Highs today and Thursday should be in the upper 50s to upper 60s. High Tuesday ranged from 67 at Fayetteville and Harrison to 84 at El Dorado.

A few light showers were reported Tuesday morning but radar indicated that the precipitation moved out of the state before noon. No rain is expected in the state through Thursday.

Overnight lows include Fayetteville 32, Harrison 40, Jonesboro 47, Pine Bluff 50, Memphis 50, Texarkana 48, Little Rock 49, Fort Smith 40 and El Dorado 45.

Plant Dedicated at Nashville

NASHVILLE, Ark. (AP)—The new $2.6 million Tyson-Cassady poultry processing plant was dedicated here Tuesday by Gov. Dale Bumpers.

The complex has 115,000 - square feet of floor space, employs 280, is expected to eventually employ 500 and has a capacity of 8,000 birds per hour.

About 500 persons attended the ceremony.

'Jersey Joe' Elected

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP) — Former world heavyweight boxing champion "Jersey Joe" Walcott was elected Camden County sheriff Tuesday, defeating William Strang by about 8,000 votes.

Walcott, whose real name is Arnold Cream, becomes New Jersey's only black sheriff.

He won the heavyweight title in 1951 from Ezzard Charles on a left hook to the jaw.

After he retired from the ring he returned to Camden, his hometown and eventually became public safety director.

$20 Billion Pollution Bill Passed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Turning back attempts to dilute its financial impact, the Senate has passed unanimously a $20-billion measure setting 1985 as the goal for ending pollution of the nation's waters.

The bill was sent to the House by an 86-0 vote Tuesday night.

The measure, a product of Sen. Edmund S. Muskie's pollution subcommittee, would change federal reliance on complex water quality standards and attack pollution at the source: the polluter.

In addition to the bill's objective of setting a no-discharge, no-pollution standard, there is a $14-billion, four-year federal grant program to aid states in building a network of water-treatment facilities.

With Muskie insisting the federal government can't "fudge" on the investment called for in the bill, the Senate rejected, 58 to 34, an amendment by Sen. Caleb Boggs, R-Del., which would have deleted the contract authority to allocate money before it actually was appropriated.

On a 92-0 roll call, senators tacked to the bill an amendment by Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., adding an additional $800 million in loan funds to help small businesses meet the costs of installing the pollution-control equipment required by the bill.

The measure requires the best available technology be installed and used over the 14-year period.

The program is to be administered by the head of the Environmental Protection Agency who is given authority to ban outright the dumping of toxic material into bodies of water.

Voters Go After Those Rats

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Voters decided against a 100,000 population ceiling Tuesday but approved a resolution to slow Boulder's growth rate.

The proposed charter amendment to clamp a ceiling on Boulder's population, supported by the local Zero Population Growth organization, lost 12,156 to 8,605.

Approved by a 16,364-6,171 vote was a city council proposal which calls for a study to determine an optimum population level for the Boulder Valley while holding the city's population growth below the rate of the 1960s.

PRIME CANDIDATE to succeed United Nations Secretary-General U Thant, retiring at the end of this year, is believed to be Max Jakobson of Finland. His selection would mark a return to the Nordic tradition for the world organization's top permanent post, previously held by Trygvie Lie of Norway and Dag Hammarskjold of Sweden.

Celibacy for Priests Voted by Bishops

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The World Synod of Bishops has voted overwhelmingly in favor of maintaining mandatory celibacy for priests in the Latin rite of the Roman Catholic Church, the Vatican announced today.

The vote was 168 to 10. There were three abstensions and 21 proposed amendments. It was one of 19 votes the synod took on a document of priesthood Tuesday. Seven of the 209 synod members did not attend Tuesday's session.

The vote came as a great boost for Pope Paul's stand that celibacy is an essential part of tradition in the Church. The vote did not affect the different situation in the Eastern branch of Roman Catholicism, where priests are given an option between marriage and celibacy before ordination.

Only a minority of Roman Catholics belong to the Eastern church.

The synod's vote upheld this propositon: "The law of celibacy shall be maintained in its entirety in the Latin Church."

Blood Donors Can Prepare for Emergency

Haskell Jones, Red Cross Bloodmobile Chairman, says that special requests for blood have been reduced considerably by persons who have planned ahead. For example, if you know that a member of your immediate family will require surgery in the near future you could give blood as an insurance against that moment.

All residents of the county get Red Cross blood without delay at local hospitals. However, in order to be eligible for Red Cross blood outside the county, the person involved or a member of his immediate family must have given blood in the last 12 months.

The Red Cross Bloodmobile returns to Hope Monday and Tuesday, November 8th and 9th - 12 Noon to 6:00 p.m., at the Red River Vocational Technical School. Give blood then and then have it when you need it.

Texas Escapee Recaptured

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — Johnny Borgoes, 23, who escaped Oct. 9 from a Seagoville, Tex., federal prison, was in custody here Tuesday awaiting return to prison, authorities said.

Officers said Borgoes was arrested Monday night at an El Dorado motel. He had been serving a four-year prison sentence for interstate transportation of a stolen motor vehicle, police said.

Speculation in Saigon Is Laird to Arrange a 40,000 Man Withdrawal

Top Senators Blast Nixon's Aid Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee hopes to fashion within a week a revamped foreign aid bill to counter the Nixon administration plan for temporary restoration of the assistance program.

The committee's plan was boosted Tuesday when Sen. Allen Ellender, D-La., chairman of the Appropriations Committee, predicted his panel would refuse to go along with a month-long extension but might agree to a shorter continuation, to Dec. 1, if a revised program is on its way.

Earlier Tuesday, Chairman J.W. Fulbright of the Foreign Relations Committee said he, like Democratic leader Mike Mansfield, opposes an extension resolution. He said he believes his committee can act quickly on a new bill.

"I'm for reporting it out by the 15th," the Arkansas Democrat told reporters. "I think we can report it out by the first of next week. After all, it isn't an unfamiliar subject."

The committee is getting briefed today by Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Dr. John A. Hannah, director of the Agency for International Development, on the administration's aid plans.

Rogers told newsmen at the White House Tuesday after an hour-long conference with President Nixon that the administration will make "a very stern and strong appeal to members of Congress to correct this damage that has been done."

Rogers emphasized he favors a continuing resolution to extend the present aid program until at least Dec. 15 so Nixon can carry on what the secretary called a "very successful foreign policy."

House leaders have talked about acting on a resolution covering aid and other programs, such as defense and the District of Columbia, for which regular appropriations bills remain unpassed.

Ellender, who had conferred earlier with Fulbright, said, however, he opposes including foreign aid with other programs and added he doubts his committee would go along with the House plan.

Continuing resolutions, he said, are designed for cases in which authorizing legislation is expected to be passed within a reasonable length of time. "We are by no means sure that this is the case here," Ellender said.

The Louisiana Democrat said any new aid bill should contain a definite cutoff date for the program. He said he favors reductions in U.S. military assistance for South Vietnam and Cambodia.

Defense Chief Points to Low Casualty List

SAIGON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird arrived tonight to assemble information for President Nixon's next announcement on troop cuts. Speculation is that the U.S. force will be trimmed to 40,000 men by July.

Laird told newsmen in Saigon that U.S. battle deaths in Vietnam last week were the lowest since the United States assumed a major combat role in March 1965.

He declined to divulge the number of deaths, but said the figure would be released by the U.S. Command in its regular casualty report on Thursday.

The toll would have to be no more than two men killed. Records show at least one week since March 1965 three Americans were killed.

In the first three weeks of this past October, the U.S. combat deaths have been fewer than eight a week.

Laird said the low number of American casualties is largely due to efforts by Gen. Crighton W. Abrams' progress in modernizing of the South Vietnamese armed forces, and assumption of a greater share of the fighting by Saigon forces. Abrams is the U.S. commander in Vietnam.

Laird said that in the week before the Nixon administration took over in January 1969, there were 196 Americans killed in action during the seven-day period.

The defense secretary, here for a three-day visit, went into consultations with Abrams and U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker shortly after he arrived.

He told newsmen he would make a personal report to President Nixon, and that on or about Nov. 15 the President would make a statement on the progress of Vietnamization, and "the prospects for peace as far as the negotiating route in Paris is concerned."

No Adverse Environment Effect Seen

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. says that its proposed $100 million pipeline into the Anadarko Basin of Texas and Oklahoma would have "no unavoidable adverse environmental effects."

In a report filed with the Federal Power Commission, Arkla said the proposed pipeline and compressor stations were similar to existing Arkla facilities and met all federal and state standards.

The FPC is expected to rule soon on Arkla's application to build the pipeline. The FPC had asked Arkla for an environmental impact report on the proposed project.

Weather Made No Difference

MASSENA, N.Y. (AP) — Inclement weather in northern New York failed to keep Michael Sheets away from his polling place in the nearby town of Louisville on Tuesday.

He will be 100 years old Jan. 10.

Sheets said he has voted in every presidential election and nearly all off-year contests as well since his first ballot for President William Howard Taft in 1908. He added that he hoped to return to the polls for the 1972 election.

Sheets said he was unfamiliar with the local candidates this year, so, as an enrolled Republican, voted a straight GOP ticket.

Philadelphia Selects 'Tough Cop', Ford Is Elected in Kentucky

By DON McLEOD
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Frank L. Rizzo's "tough cop" election as mayor of Philadelphia and Wendell Ford's economic campaign into the Kentucky governor's mansion may give 1972 political planners a couple of the clues they have been looking for.

The national party professionals gearing for the upcoming presidential year also may take a few hints from Cleveland where Ralph J. Perk rolled over divided Democrats and the would-be black machine of outgoing Mayor Carl B. Stokes to become the city's first Republican mayor in 30 years.

And in Virginia, a populist-type Democrat who couldn't get his party's nomination ran as an independent against "the politicians" and became lieutenant governor over the efforts of Old Guard Democrats and what had been thought one of the South's more promising state Republican parties.

In San Francisco, Joseph Alioto, running as the mayor who has kept his city "cool" during four years when other U.S. urban areas have been in turmoil, survived the chill of a federal indictment to win another term against 10 challengers.

Over in Pittsburgh, Republicans may have launched an attractive young star of the future in ketchup heir H. John Heinz III, who easily won the only congressional seat up for election Tuesday.

William Waller, nominee of Mississippi's traditional Democratic party, smothered the bid of Charles Evers, a member of the Democratic National Committee, who sought to become the state's first black governor.

Republicans retained control in the bellwether New Jersey Legislature but lost ground to resurgent Democrats.

The new student vote was felt in places where it concentrated behind local candidates. In Ocala, Fla., a 19-year-old student forced an incumbent city councilman into a runoff. Youth votes helped elect two city councilmen in East Lansing, Mich. Three students fared poorly in the Kalamazoo, Mich., city council election, but two college professors were elected.

Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien assessed the over-all scene as evidence of rebuilding strength in his party.

"The victory of Gov. Ford in Kentucky is particularly significant since it underlines the failures of the Nixon economic game plan and represents the first major referendum of his latest economic moves," O'Brien said in a statement issued from his Washington office.

But reading the election results may give the politicians more headaches than answers.

The law-and-order approach that worked in Philadelphia went stale in Boston where Mayor Kevin White won a surprisingly easy victory over Rep. Louise Day Hicks for another four-year term.

Mrs. Hicks called herself the "people's candidate" and promised to "build neighborhood schools for neighborhood children." She was strong for tough law enforcement and pitched to the blue collars.

China's UN Envoys to Be Consertative

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Two former ambassadors to Peking say the Chinese Communist regime's choice of U.N. delegates indicates they will play a constructive role in the world organization.

But an Asian diplomat who has served in China noted: "They will not have that much flexibility. They themselves will not alter or dictate policy."

U.N. officials hoped for word today on the arrival date of the delegates—nine men and a woman—whose names were announced Tuesday by Peking.

The delegation is headed by Chiao Kuan-hua, 57, a seasoned diplomat and protege of Premier Chou En-lai. Like his chief aides, Chiao has extensive experience in dealing with both the Soviet Union and Western nations.

"The quality and caliber of the people they have chosen is very high," said Salim Salim, Tanzania's U.N. ambassador and a former envoy in Peking.

"Our prediction that the United Nations would be enhanced by the presence of the People's Republic of Cpina is being confirmed," he added.

Ole Algard of Norway, who represented his nation in Peking before becoming a delegate to the current U.N. session, said China's choice of Chiao "reflects what we have thought all along—that China intends to play an active and responsible role in the U.N."

Algard called Chiao a "perfect choice for China to send here."

Algard's sentiments were echoed by an East Asian expert at Columbia University, Donald W. Klein, who is co-author of a recent biographical dictionary of leading figures in Communist China. "They are sending absolutely the best team that they could," he said.

Chiao, fluent in English, is presently vice minister of foreign affairs and since 1969 has been China's chief negotiator in border disputes with the Soviet Union.

He came to the United Nations in 1950 when Red China accused the United States of aggression in Formosa and has made numerous diplomatic trips with Chou.

The deputy head of the Chinese delegation is Huang Hua, 58, who has been China's ambassador to Canada since the summer and has kept in close touch with U.N. activities. He will be Peking's permanent representative, dividing his time between New York and Ottawa.

U.S. Cost in UN Defeat Is Still Being Counted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost to the United States for its U.N. defeat on China representation is still being counted, but it is clear the effects reach beyond the loss of a seat for the Nationalist government.

With just over a week gone by since Nationalist China was expelled from the world organization, the vote has touched on the U.S. foreign aid program, the domestic Japanese political situation, U.S. relations with Taiwan, Washington's attitude toward the U.N. and American foreign policy generally.

However, there is dispute between the Nixon administration and its critics over the significance of some of these ramifications.

For instance, State Department sources say they doubt the U.N. vote was a serious factor in the death of the current foreign aid program at the hands of the Senate last Friday.

"It was a combination of frustration by liberals who opposed part of the aid bill dealing with military matters and support of some military governments and fiscal conservatives," one source said. "Throw in some circumstances of time and the fact of a large number of absentees and you have a defeat."

He acknowledged one of the circumstances was the U.N. action.

On the other side, liberal and conservative critics of the foreign aid program said the U.N. vote did indeed play an important role in defeating the assistance measure.

Angered by the Nationalist expulsion, some conservatives voted against extending foreign aid because it contained funds for U.N.-related programs. Other senators, including Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said the Nixon administration had created an anti-U.N. mood that was reflected in the foreign aid loss.

Administration officials also say the political trouble enveloping Japanese Prime Minister Eisaku Sato existed before he joined with the United States in sponsoring the effort to keep Nationalist China.

Still, the attacks on Sato intensified after the Nationalists were kicked out and Japan found itself on the losing side.

And while U.S. officials say there has been nothing from Taiwan to indicate any worsening of relations with Washington over the U.N. action, some Nationalist sources have criticized both the American strategy and the depth of its commitment during the struggle.

There is little disagreement on any side that U.S.-U.N. relations have worsened.

There is a move in Congress to cut American financial support for the U.N. itself beyond the aid for related agencies. The administration claims it opposes such moves as retaliation, but Secretary of State William P. Rogers spoke for the administration when he said there needs to be a re-examination of the American share of U.N. costs if the organization does not institute economic reforms.

Kiwanians Hear About European Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Thrash appeared before the Kiwanis Club at their Tuesday's meeting on a program arranged by Kiwanian Mike Kelly.

Leaving Hope on August 18th and returning September 16th, Mr. and Mrs. Thrash toured Europe and visited with their son, Larry and his wife, Linda who are stationed with the military near Frankfort, Germany. They flew directly from Washington, D.C. to Frankfort with one stop in Shannon, Ireland for refueling. While on the European continent they visited interesting places in Germany, Italy, Austria, Switzerland, France, Holland, and then London, England, returning via Canada.

During their tour they made many slides, some of which were shown to the Kiwanians with Mrs. Thrash commenting on each slide shown.

Mr. Thrash closed the program with some personal observations, one of them concerning the number of Europeans employed by the U.S. Forces.

He stated that it looked to him as if there was one European employed by the United States for every service man stationed there. On returning home, he noticed in the press a statement that for every military unit of 15,000 men in Europe we are employing 13,000 Europeans, so his observation was not far wrong.

Guests at Tuesday's Kiwanis Club meeting were Gus Teeling with Kiwanian Rudy Fick, Mrs. Mike Kelly, and Mrs. Mel Thrash with their Kiwanis husbands.

Hope Folks Can Dial Mexico Direct Now

Just in case you want to practice your Spanish, it will be easier beginning Sunday, November 7, when Hope phone users will be able to dial direct to Mexico City.

"Expansion of direct dialing to the capital city of our Latin American neighbor is another step toward international dialing of long distance calls," Manager Jack Bayles of Southwestern Bell said.

Hope residents now can dial calls direct to a number of cities in Canada.

Arkansans make about 7,000 calls a year to Mexico.

"Telephones in Mexico City and its immediate suburbs will be the only ones in the country that can be dialed direct initially," Bayles said. "But other cities in Mexico will be added as they install the necessary equipment."

The manager noted that Hope callers will dial direct to Mexico City in the same way they now dial other U.S. cities outside Arkansas.

A caller here will dial the Mexico City access code, "90," plus an identification number, "5," plus the 7-digit telephone number.

For example, to dial number 546-3168 in Mexico City, the Hope caller will dial 1-905-546-3168.

"It will not be possible to dial the Mexico City directory assistance operator," Bayles said. "To obtain a number in Mexico City, callers should dial the operator here who will connect them with directory assistance."

Mexico City is the world's fourth largest metropolis with a population exceeding 7 million. But the Mexican capital has only 706,000 telephones, fewer than the city of Dallas. Mexico City is in the Central Standard Time Zone.

Senate Hearings on Nominees To Open Today

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Judiciary Committee hearings open today on nominations submitted by President Nixon to give the Supreme Court a more conservative bent in line with his own judicial philosophy.

Democratic liberals on the committee planned extensive questioning of both nominees, Assistant Atty. Gen. William H. Rehnquist, 47, and Lewis F. Powell Jr., 64, a millionaire Richmond, Va., lawyer.

So far, however, none of the committee members has taken a stand against confirmation of either nomination.

Committee sources said Rehnquist will be called to testify ahead of Powell. If questioning of him can be completed in an all-day session, Powell will take the witness chair Thursday.

Nixon announced his selections to fill two court vacancies on Oct. 21.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., the committee chairman, was expected to receive a report shortly before the hearings opened on the American Bar Association's investigation of Rehnquist's and Powell's qualifications.

Nixon nominated both without submitting their names to an ABA panel for advance screening, but an ABA check on the nominees was requested by the Senate committee.

The Leadership Conference on Civil Rights came out Tuesday against Rehnquist's nomination but took no position on confirmation of Powell.

Joseph L. Rauh Jr., counsel for the conference, said it based its opposition to Rehnquist on "his failure to show devotion to civil rights and his lack of support for the Bill of Rights."

Similar grounds previously had been given by the liberal Americans for Democratic Action, of which Rauh is vice chairman, for opposing Rehnquist's nomination.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., a Judiciary Committee member, said he is concerned about Rehnquist's commitment to individual, human and civil rights.

Nominees Get ABA Approval

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lewis F. Powell Jr. and William H. Rehnquist received today the American Bar Association's Federal Judiciary Committee's approval of their qualifications for the Supreme Court.

In reports submitted at the opening of Senate Judiciary Committee hearings on President Nixon's two nominees, the 12-member committee said both Powell and Rehnquist are among "the best persons available for appointment."

The ABA committee was unanimous in the view that Powell, a Richmond, Va., attorney, "meets, in an exceptional degree, high standards of professional competence, judicial temperament and judicial integrity, and that he is one of the best qualified lawyers available for appointment to the Supreme Court."

As for Rehnquist, an assistant attorney general, chairman Lawrence E. Walsh of New York City reported his ABA committee was "unanimous in the view that Mr. Rehnquist is qualified for the appointment." However, the report added: "Three members of the committee believe that his qualifications do not establish his eligibility for the committee's highest rating, and would therefore, express their conclusion as not opposed to his confirmation."

Last month the Nixon administration ended a policy of asking the ABA panel to investigate potential nominees for the high court.

As the Senate Judiciary Committee opened its hearings, Democratic liberals on the committee planned extensive questioning of both nominees.

So far, however, none of the committee members has taken a stand against confirmation of either nomination.

Bidding On Road Projects Begin November 24

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Highway Commission announced Tuesday it would open bids Nov. 24 on seven road projects estimated to cost $2.3 million.

The projects, by County:

ARKANSAS — Construction of one bridge plus grading and other base work on a .2 mile section of Arkansas 152 just west of Arkansas 11. Estimated cost is $115,000.

HOT SPRING—Surfacing and landscaping of the Social Hill rest area on Interstate 30 southwest of Malvern. Estimated cost is $300,000.

PRAIRIE — Surfacing of .9 miles of Arkansas 38 from the White River eastward. Estimated cost is $720,000.

BRADLEY — Surfacing and other work on 5.5 miles of Arkansas 160 from Vick to Ingalls. Estimated cost is $285,000.

OUACHITA — Surfacing and other work on 4.2 miles of Arkansas 24 from the junction of Arkansas 4 northwesterly. Estimated cost is $560,000.

CARROLL — Installation of two traffic signals at two intersections on U.S. 62 in Berryville. Estimated cost is $17,000.

POINSETT — Surfacing and other work on 4.3 miles of Arkansas 214 from the junction of Arkansas 1 easterly to McCormick. Estimated cost is $285,000.

Irish Alert Sea, Land Air Forces

DUBLIN (AP) — The Irish government today alerted sea, air and land forces along the southwest coast to intercept a tiny cargo ship suspected of bringing arms from Europe to the Irish Republican Army.

Meanwhile, two persons were killed and 36 injured Tuesday in Belfast when gunmen blew up a tavern and a clothing store. Others were feared buried in the rubble. It was the biggest casualty toll from one guerrilla operation in the two years of communal warfare in Northern Ireland.

The ship, the 400-ton Kilcrea, was reported plowing through heavy seas off the coast of Cork, making slow headway against a gale.

Truckloads of troops converged on the village of Cappa, near Limerick, where the ship was scheduled to dock. High-ranking police officers joined the contingent, a navy minesweeper put out to sea, and a search plane was ordered up at dawn.

The Kilcrea took on grain in Belgium three weeks ago, and police sources said Interpol, the international police organization, had warned she might also have a consignment of weapons aboard. But Michael Horgan, whose Avoca Shipping Services owns the Kilcrea, said: "I can say categorically there is no question of us carrying arms."

A large shipment of arms believed destined for the IRA guerrillas in Northern Ireland was seized Oct. 16 at the Amsterdam airport. Three days later the Queen Elizabeth 2 landed six suitcases from New York that were found to contain arms.

The explosions in Belfast Tuesday afternoon raised the death toll to 148 in the Protestant-Catholic warfare in northern Ireland.

Three men with guns blazing burst into the Red Lion Inn, in the heart of the city's Protestant district, planted an estimated 50 pounds of gelignite, and told the customers they had 10 seconds to clear out.

The bodies of a man and a woman were found.

Closed For Selling Liquor To Minors

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The director of the state Alcoholic Beverage Control Board, ordered the temporary closure Tuesday of two liquor stores in Conway County for allegedly selling to minors.

Bob Brumbelow suspended the operations of the I40 Liquor Store and Rossi Liquors, Inc., for 30 days beginning Saturday, but held 15 days of the suspension in abeyance. He placed the stores on six months' probation.

David Stewart of Danville, attorney for the two stores, said Brumbelow's decision would be appealed to the full ABC board.

Stewart said Conway County authorities had practiced "systematic, selective and discriminatory law enforcement" inst the two stores.

Conway County Sheriff Marlin Hawkins said he would continue his crackdown on liquor law violators. He expressed disappointment the punishment for the two Conway County stores was not more severe.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Venereal Disease Can Cause Sterility

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—Is it not a fact that a woman who had gonorrhea or any VD very likely will never be able to have a child? Wouldn't she miscarry the first one and thereafter miscarry without being aware of it? I have seen two cases that seemed to turn out that way.

Dear Reader — Untreated gonorrhea in the female attacks the tubes. This results in scar formation blocking the tubes. The egg released from the ovary normally has to enter the mouth of the tube and pass through the tube to the uterus to be fertilized. If the tube is blocked the egg never gets to the uterus to be fertilized. Hence the woman doesn't get pregnant at all. This means she can't miscarry a pregnancy that doesn't exist.

If gonorrhea is treated soon enough there is a good chance the tubes may not be affected. A female may not have symptoms to warn her and once the illness is discovered it could be too late.

Syphilis can result in abortions. I would think the first one would lead to its discovery and treatment. If the woman was still able to get pregnant she would probably not be any more likely to abort than other women.

I doubt that many miscarriages are caused by venereal disease. The big problem is sterility. With the high incidence of gonorrhea in young people this could have a significant impact on limiting the population growth if it remains unchecked. In a sense this acts as a selection process for the continuation of the species. The subsequent generation may come from parents who have been less permissive in their habits.

Dear Dr. Lamb—Could you tell me if it is possible that insulin users would endanger their health if their daily dosage was unnecessarily high? If no ill effects are apparent could it, in the long term, have a debilitating effect?

Dear Reader — Too much insulin will cause the blood sugar to drop to low levels and cause symptoms. One can go into insulin shock from the low blood sugar. This has been used frequently as a way of inducing shock for psychiatric treatment in certain types of patients.

If "no ill effects are apparent" it is unlikely that the individual could be getting too much insulin. Without symptoms of too much insulin I doubt there can be any long term debilitating effects either

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Election Day may have been a holiday for some but Bob Hope was busy making Christmas plans.

"We'll be going around the world again," the comedian said. "Hawaii, Okinawa, Thailand, Vietnam, Italy, Madrid and Guantanamo—it wouldn't be Christmas if we were doing anything else. Actually, it's pretty exciting. I get so much mail from the kids asking us to visit them—we can't hit them all, but we try."

Hope says he expects the singing Golddiggers to be missing from his troupe—"They are busy with their own TV series, but they sure were great last year, visiting hospitals everyplace and putting on special shows for the men in them."

While Hope and his aides are pulling together his company for the annual tour of U.S. bases abroad two advance men leave before Thanksgiving to make arrangements for each stop.

Hope is busy with a new film and has another of his television specials coming up on NBC next Sunday. Last Sunday he taped the topical monologue. The rest of the show had been shot earlier.

"The monologue will stand unless something special comes up," he said. "I think the last time we changed was after a space shot. I raced to the studio the day of the show and we substituted about five minutes."

Raymond Burr and Barbara Hale were reunited Tuesday night in what started out to be an intriguing mystery on NBC's "Ironside." Miss Hale, who played secretary Della Street during all those "Perry Mason" years, this time had the part of a chic New York playwright, one of Chief Ironside's old flames. She really was sort of a footnote to the plot, a backstage story of the killing of a louse named Lenny. The windup, alas, was a big letdown.

"Two on a Bench," ABC's 90-minute "Movie of the Week," was an increasingly rare TV sight: a light comedy that actually worked and even moved one to occasional laughter. This was largely due to the talents of Patty Duke, who can handle comedy as adroitly as she does serious roles. Ted Bessell proved he can do something more complicated than play straight man for Marlo Thomas.

It was a giddy story with satiric overtones about a rich, stuffy young man and a swinging hip girl picked up by federal agents as spy suspects. But the show was stretched beyond its strength: It would have been a delightful hour.

WITH FRIENDS LIKE THIS...

Dear Helen:

I treat my expensive deer rifle like a member of the family, and lend it only to people I can trust—even then, grudgingly.

This guy at the office is not in that category. He freeloads everything from cigarettes to weekends at your beach house (he just shows up), and he's good at turning "No" into "Yes."

When he asked to borrow my rifle for a deer trip, I made my mistake. I didn't give a flat "No!" because his cousin (a guy I can trust) had used it the week before, which put me in an embarrassing spot. So I implied every way I could that he should rent a gun: told him mine was worth $350 and could he afford a replacement? Said it didn't have a scratch on it—and besides I needed it in five days. I figured I'd discourage him. But the next morning he came by the house and told my wife he was there to pick up the gun I'd so kindly offered him. Assured her he'd have it back by the time I needed it. What could she do? She lent it to him.

Well, the night before MY deer trip, I called his house and his wife said, "Didn't you know? John won't be back till Sunday!"

I suppressed some choice phrases and asked, "What am I going to do without my rifle?" She suggested I go out and rent one!

The gun came home two weeks later (I went after it!). There's a big scratch on the stock and the scope is knocked out of line. I spent a whole day cleaning it and must take it to the shop for other work, perhaps major.

Would any jury convict me if I did what I'd like to do? — SEEING RED

Dear S. R.:

Don't take a chance: all jurors aren't gun buffs.

Instead, send John the repair bill, plus an added fee for rent. And if he doesn't kick through, keep reminding him at the office—in front of your co-workers.

When people stop being polite to freeloaders, maybe they'll start paying their own way! —H.

Dear Helen:

The neighborhood alley cat crawls in my car when it's parked outside. The other day I took off in a hurry, and suddenly there was a screeching clawing fiend on my neck. (The cat likes cars, hates riding.)

Trying to fend the beast off, I lost control and rear-ended the car in front of me, which in turn hit the car in front of it.

I'm judged at fault, but the cat is the culprit. My insurance company may raise my premiums, not to speak of my getting slapped with damage suits, plus having my car wrecked, and out of commission.

No one claims the cat. He just appeared one day, and scrounges food from people on the block. I can't sue an animal with no master. What recourse do I have? —CAT HATER

Dear C.H.:

You need a lawyer, not a columnist! My only advice would be: find a home for that darn cat—preferably 500 miles away! —H.

Dear Helen:

Here's a suggestion:

As we all know, hospitals and nursing homes are notoriously understaffed. They especially need semitrained people who will take the load off nurses. Patients need more tender loving care between shots and professional visits. There's also a shortage of janitors.

States are troubled with unemployment, spiraling relief rolls, etc. Why not put these unemployed persons to work where they could do the most good: in hospitals? If hospitals were unable to pay them, then let welfare recipients earn their checks. There's plenty to do! SADLY NEGLECTED PATIENT

P.S. And they'd probably be happier than sitting on their duffs at home, right?

Questions, Answers About SS

If you have any questions regarding social security, send them to the Social Security Office, Box 1319, Texarkana, Texas 75501 Attention: Glenda Bozeman

Q. Due to some unusual business expenses on my farm last year, my net profit was only $575 although I took in over $3000. My neighbor told me I can report on part of the $3000. Is this correct?

A. Yes, your neighbor was referring to the optional method of figuring net earnings. This method allows a farmer whose gross farm income is over $2400 and whose net earnings are less than $1600 to report either $1600 or his actual net earnings as self employment income. Therefore, you could either report $1600 or your actual net of $575.

Q. As a self employed farmer, will my social security benefits be figured the same way as the person who has always worked for wages?

A. Yes, there is no difference in the computation.

Q. I have recently entered into an agreement to rent out 1500 acres of my cotton land. I will receive a share of the crop and pay part of the expenses. Is this income counted for social security purposes?

A. We cannot give you a definite answer without more information. Rental income does not usually count for social security purposes. However, farm rental income does count if, under the rental arrangement, the farm landlord "materially participates" in the actual production of the farm commodities or in the management of production. The social security office has a booklet, "Farmers are Asking About Farm Rental Income—Does It Count for Social Security Payments?" which we will be glad to mail to you.

Q. Is it possible that a person might have to file a tax return because of his farm income, and yet not owe income tax?

A. Yes. If your net earnings from self-employment are $400 or more, you must file an income tax return and report your self-employment income even if you would not otherwise be required to file an income tax return for the year.

Peterson Can Appreciate Ferguson

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Rice Coach Bill Peterson may appreciate Arkansas quarterback Joe Ferguson a wee bit more than other coaches who are more ground-oriented.

Peterson knows how effective a pro-type passing attack can be. While at Florida State, Peterson was one of the first college coaches to install the pro-type offense.

"The problem with Arkansas is that you have to make some defensive changes because of Ferguson and that's not good," Peterson said. "You don't get enough repitition in one week and repition means better defense."

Peterson's Owls meet Ferguson and the Razorbacks Saturday afternoon in a Southwest Conference match at Houston, Tex.

"Ferguson is better than anything we ever had at Florida State," Peterson said. "He's always right on the money and he has great poise."

Ferguson completed 31 of 51 passes for 345 yards, all school records, in last week's 17-9 loss to Texas A&M. For the season, Ferguson has completed 60.7 per cent of his passes for 1,676 yards.

Because of Peterson's background, he knows something about defensing the pro-type passing attack.

"We think we know what to do because we worked against it all spring," he said. "We know some things that will hurt it, but it always turns out to be a guessing game."

Peterson said the Owls have used mostly zone coverage in their first seven ball games.

"We'll try to use zone and man to man against Arkansas, but we'll try to conceal it," Peterson said. "We'll try to keep them guessing."

Don Breaux, who coaches Arkansas' backfield, brought much of the Razorbacks' passing game from Florida State where he was an assistant to Peterson.

"Breaux's gone more to the option - type thing," Peterson said. "They probably don't put the backs out as much as we did, but they probably don't need to. They run from the I and they run the veer from the I, but they don't have to do much else."

A&M defeated Arkansas last week by shutting down the Razorbacks' running game and employing a no-risk offense. The Aggies did not have a turnover and capitzlied on three Arkansas errors for their points.

"We just can't stay in there with those people and do that," Peterson said. "Our offensive line is just not good enough. We have the same philosophy we did at Florida State but if they give us the run, we'll try to take it."

The Owls threw only 14 times in a 9-7 victory over Texas Tech last Saturday, but still are second to Arkansas in the conference in passing.

Rice quarterback Philip Wood is second in the conference in passing to Ferguson. Wood has completed 45 of 105, but has had 10 intercepted.

"We probably threw too much early in the season," Peterson said. "If I could have Wood around a couple of more years he would be a pretty good quarterback. Those interceptions are a little deceiving. Some of them came when Wood should have run the ball and some were tipped. He's not that bad a passer."

Peterson said the victory over Tech would aid the Owls' confidence.

"Football is an emotional game and confidence gives you emotion," he said.

"I saw in the paper where Frank (Broyles) has challenged them to play their best of the season," Peterson said. "We're going to get them on the rebound and that's not good."

Oklahoma Threatening Statistics

NEW YORK (AP) — Awesome Oklahoma is threatening to smash—in fact, destroy—the all-time rushing and total offense records for a full season, according to National Collegiate Sports Services.

The NCSS, statistical arm of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, disclosed today that the unbeaten Sooners, ranked second in the country behind Nebraska, are averaging 489.1 rushing yards and 578.9 in total offense for their first seven games.

The records are 391.0 yards rushing set by another Oklahoma team in 1956 and 562.0 yards in total offense set by Houston three years ago.

How awesome are Oklahoma's rushing statistics? Throw out the 711 yards they gained against Kansas State and the Sooners are still averaging 452.2 yards per game. Or give them zero yards for that game and the average is still 387.6.

Oklahoma has been forced to punt just 14 times all season, an average of 2.0 punts per game which hasn't been exceeded over a season in major college history, although Nevada also averaged 2.0 in 1948.

Disputed Play Proved a Winner for Texas

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas' disputed winning touchdown against Southern Methodist appears—at first glance—to be the most crucial close play of the 1971 Southwest Conference football season.

Only time will tell how important it was in the SWC title race.

Texas' fullback Bobby Callison dashed at the SMU goal line from one-yard out, and linesman Bubba Gernand signaled touchdown.

The score enabled Texas to whip the Mustangs, 22-18, and pushed its SWC record to 3-1 for a first place tie with Arkansas. SMU dropped to 2-1, the same as TCU.

Did Callison score?

Many SMU players and coaches reportedly are convinced Callison was stopped short, that his knee struck the ground before he crossed the goal line.

"We're sick about the outcome," said SMU defensive line coach Bob McQueen. "A lot of our players have really grieved over this thing..."

Asked about the play Tuesday, Texas Coach Darrell Royal said, "Bobby thought he was in. He thought it was close. He said, 'Yeah, it was close.' But there wasn't any question in his mind he was in."

Callison said, "I think I was in but I don't know. It was kind of hard to tell if I was because I was so low to the ground, but I felt like I did make it.

"I was stopped and I spun off but I actually don't know if it should have been a touchdown."

"He hit on the goal line but he had the ball pretty high up, almost up around the shoulder and he was in all the way up to here," said quarterback Donnie Wigginton, motioning to his vest.

Royal said it "is strange to see so much attention on that one call when the most loudly disputed call from the fans" viewpoint was a pass interference ruling against Texas halfback Mike Rowan.

On third-and-12 at the Texas 42, SMU's Gary Hammond threw to Louis Scott, and Rowan slapped the ball away but was called for interference at the Texas 32.

It meant an automatic first down for SMU, and Chipper Johnson eventually kicked a field goal for a 15-7 Mustang lead.

Asked if Longhorn game films could settle the argument on Callison's run, Royal said. "Ours don't even show. Nobody can look at that thing and tell" even though the projector operator can freeze the action a frame at a time.

But was it close enough to cause such a furor?

"Can't tell," Royal replied. "But I want to get in line if we're going to go back over all the officiating."

Stuttgart Rated Top Prep Team

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Max Graham says his Stuttgart football team is an exception to the rule of thumb that Class AA teams cannot hold their own with larger schools week after week.

The voters in The Associated Press high school football poll apparently believe as Graham does and have voted the Ricebirds the No. 1 team in the state this week.

Stuttgart, No. 2 last week, moved up after Little Rock Hall upset top-ranked Fort Smith Northside. Stuttgart has won eight straight since losing by two points to Northside in the season opener at Fort Smith. The Ricebirds' victims include Forrest city, Jonesboro and West Memphis, all AAA teams.

Once-beaten Hot Springs advanced from fourth to second this week after crushing Fayetteville 40-0. Northside dropped to third, one notch above twice-beaten Hall. Little Rock Catholic, third last week, lost to Little Rock Parkview 21-17 and dropped to eighth. Parkview moved from seventh to fifth.

The second five includes unbeaten Rogers, another AA team, Little Rock McClellan, Catholic, Forrest City and Texarkana. McClellan was eighth last week and Forrest City was fifth. Rogers was sixth last week. Texarkana, a 26-14 winner over El Dorado, moved back into the top 10 when 10th-ranked North Little Rock lost to Pine Bluff.

"I think it should be a rare case when a AA school has a football team that's capable and has the caliber of athletes that deserve to be No. 1 over-all," Graham said. "I very definitely think that this year we have proved we have the athletes that deserve this recognition.

"It's a great feeling," Graham said. "Usually we just talk about the conference championship and having a good year. Since things have gone like they have, we just recently have started talking about trying to be No. 1. I think this is something our kids will take tremendous pride in.

"I don't think just an ordinary AA team should be considered for No. 1," he said. "We have several AA schools, who were going strong but because of their competition and different things, I don't think they should be considered. But, I think when you have an exceptional ball club and the ball club has played a schedule like ours, I think they definitely should be considered in this thing."

Stuttgart is the first AA team to hold the top spot since Conway in 1964.

Naturally, Stuttgart leads the Class AA rankings. Rogers continues second. Unbeaten Morrilton replaced Hot Springs Lakeside in the No. 3 spot after the Rams lost to Arkadelphia.

Marked Tree continues to lead the Class A rankings, but second-ranked Gravette disappeared after losing to Berryville. Des Arc moved up from No. 3 to No. 2 and once-beaten Rison took over the No. 3 slot.

Danville, top-ranked last week in Class B, lost to Class A Dardanelle and fell to third. Unbeaten Harding Academy moved up from second to first and Dierks went from third to second.

Here are the results of The Associated Press high school football poll with first place votes and team records in parentheses and total points at right:

1. Stuttgart (11½) (8-1) 155½
2. Hot Springs (3) (7-1) 139
3. FS Northside (2½) (8-1) 125½
4. LR Hall (6-2) 115
5. LR Parkview (6-2) 109
6. Rogers (8-0) 96
7. LR McClellan (7-2) 79
8. LR Catholic (3-2-1) 36
9. Forrest City (5-1-1) 35
10. Texarkana (6-3) 17

Others receiving votes, listed alphabetically: Batesville, Benton, Cabot, Conway, Magnolia, Marked Tree, McGehee, Morrilton, Pine Bluff and Van Buren.

Turf Makers Ask Full Probe Into Injury Causes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Manufacturers of synthetic football fields say their product is safe and that a House subcommittee should investigate instead other causes of player injuries, including the game itself.

"We have engineered our system to be as safe as we can make it within the framework of the sport," said Gene Troy, an official of Monsanto Co., maker of Astroturf. "However, we cannot control the style of play, the protective equipment and footwear used, or the conditioning, attitude and coaching of the players involved."

James F. Higgins, spokesman for the 3M Co., maker of Tartan Turf, said rules changes, resistive exercises, game techniques and equipment all increase the injury potential.

"We believe the more valid question is the sport of football itself," said Morton Broffman, president of American Biltrite Rubber Co., which manufactures Polyturf.

The three testified Tuesday at a hearing on artificial turf being held by the subcommittee on commerce and finance.

On Monday, the subcommittee, chaired by Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., heard several witnesses ask for a moratorium on installing artificial turfs until a comprehensive study is made to determine if the synthetic fields cause more injuries to players than grass fields cause.

Troy disputed the testimony of Ed Garvey, executive director of the National Football League Players' Association.

"We contend that charges made by the NFLPA that there has been an alarming rise in player injuries on account of the increased use of artificial surfaces' are irresponsible and completely without basis in fact," Troy said.

"It is the consensus of opinion of team physicians, trainers and orthopedic surgeons that synthetic turf does not accelerate or extend the rate of injury," he said.

"To the contrary, data and information from our customers indicates that severe injuries occur with less frequency on our product than on natural grass."

Lee Trevino Unabashed as Ever

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer

MEXICO CITY (AP) — "I'm gonna beat you cats."

Lee Trevino, unabashed as ever, shook his finger and sounded the warning to a half-dozen Mexican pros gathered around his table at the Club De Golf—then flashed an impish grin to take the bite out of it.

"I sure didn't come all the way down here to finish second," Trevino said Tuesday after a practice round over the plush, 7,174-yard, par-72 layout.

Trevino, who set a single-season money winning record of $227,243 last week when he won the Sahara Invitational in Las Vegas, Nev., is here to compete in the Mexican National Open Golf Tournament, which starts a 72-hole run Thursday.

"I'm a Mexican and I thought the people here would like to see me play," said Trevino, a 31-year-old native of Dallas who now lives in El Paso, Tex.

"But what I really want to do is to win a fourth national championship. That ought to really make 'em sit up and take notice."

Trevino scored a never-before-accomplished sweep of the American, Canadian and British Open crowns earlier this season and faces relatively light opposition in this one.

The tournament is not a regular stop on the busy American tour and only a handful of the American tourists are in the field for this $28,000 event.

Among them are former PGA champion Bob Rosburg, Billy Maxwell, R. H. Sikes, Larry Ziegler, Marty Fleckman and Canadian veteran Al Balding.

About two dozen more Americans—most of them club pros from the southwest—also are in the 144 man line-up.

"It don't matter who's here", Trevino said. "Not the way I'm hitting the ball. I'm playin; just super, hitting the ball so good you just wouldn't believe it.

"I didn't keep score, but I was hitting it right on the flag every time I made a pass at it."

The $5,600 first prize—should he win it—will not count on Trevino's American total, but the happy-go-lucky guy isn't concerned about that.

"That's not the point," he said. "I just want to win the golf tournament and get that fourth national title."

A friend in need is a pest.

Figures Porkers Won't Slip Up Against Rice

NEW YORK (AP) — It's time for a visit from Ol' Man Upset.

Would you believe: Iowa State over Nebraska? Louisiana State over Alabama? Florida over Georgia? Pitt over Notre Dame? Rice over Arkansas? Columbia over Dartmouth?

We don't think we've flipped, but we are picking some—but not all—of the aforementioned surprises. Which ones? Read on.

Iowa State at Nebraska—Bob "Broken Record" Devaney says this could be the toughest game so far for the Cornhuskers. "I know I said that last week," he admitted, "and Colorado was the toughest. But this team is every bit as good as Colorado was last weekend." Answers Iowa State's Johnny Majors: "Nebraska has a complete football team. I don't see any weaknesses out there. I don't see any cracks in their defense. Nebraska chews you up and spits you out." Iowa State over Nebraska? Ptui! NEBRASKA.

Alabama at Louisiana State—"Tommy Casanova told me he was going to play against Alabama," LSU's Charlie McClendon said Monday. "That'll be great." Casanova, a preseason All-America pick as a defensive back, has been sidelined since the second game of the season with a leg pull. Alabama has been winning, but hasn't been the same since the Tennessee game. Upset! LSU.

Georgia vs. Florida at Jacksonville—Georgia permitted 25 points in its opener but only 21 in the last seven games and is working on a string of three shutouts. "We're a good defensive team with a lot of pride," says Vince Dooley, "but we haven't really faced the type of offenses we're going to see against Florida and Auburn, especially offenses that throw the ball that well." Even without sophomore quarterback Andy Johnson ... GEORGIA.

Notre Dame at Pitt—Pitt has scored 96 points in three home games ... but Notre Dame has allowed only seven in two road games. NOTRE DAME.

Arkansas at Rice—Did Arkansas learn it's lesson against Tulsa? Obviously not. Did Arkansas learn its lesson against Texas A&M? The guess is yes. ARKANSAS.

Dartmouth at Columbia—Dartmouth has won its last three games by three points, three again and two, with Ted Perry kicking long last-minute field goals to beat Harvard and Yale. Columbia's Cardiac Kids have beaten Yale and Rutgers by one point and Princeton by two and lost to Harvard by two and Cornell and Lafayette by three. Dartmouth has a 15-game winning streak. Made that had. Upset! COLUMBIA.

Michigan State at Ohio State—Since installing the Wishbone, Michigan State has scored 13 points against Michigan, 28 against Wisconsin, 34 against Iowa and 43 against Purdue. At East Lansing, maybe. At Columbus, no. OHIO STATE.

Baylor at Texas—Baylor was the toughest Southwest Conference foe for Texas a year ago, holding the Longhorns to a mere 21-14 victory. They've all been tough this year, but ... TEXAS.

Washington State at Southern California—State was a unanimous pick for the Pacific-8 cellar but is leading the conference in total offense and, believe it or not, has shot at the Rose Bowl. Trojans seem to be rolling, finally. SOUTHERN CAL.

Washington at California—the Huskies have rediscovered the winning touch since losing to Stanford and Oregon and making a Rose Bowl trip a longshot. Last year, Bears' Ray Youngblood, who's half Choctaw, intercepted three passes from Sonny Sixkiller, who's all Cherokee. WASHINGTON.

Clemson at North Carolina—Clemson beat Wake Forest at home by one point. Carolina beat Wake Forest at home by three. It's obvious, isn't it? NORTH CAROLINA.

Jenkins of Cubs Gets Cy Young Award

NEW YORK (AP) — Ferguson Jenkins of the Chicago Cubs, a 20-game winner in each of the past five seasons, today was named the National League's 1971 Cy Young Award winner.

Jenkins, a 28-year-old right-hander from Chatham, Ont., received 17 first place votes and a total of 97 points from the 24-man committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Tom Seaver of the New York Mets was runner-up with six first place votes and 61 points, while Al Downing of the Los Angeles Dodgers was third with 40 points, including the remaining first place vote.

A 6-foot-5, 205-pounder, Jenkins compiled a 24-13 record for the Cubs, the most victories in the National League. He completed 30 of 39 starts and pitched 325 innings, tops in the league. He was second in the league to Seaver in strikouts with 263 and compiled a 2.80 earned run average.

He is the first Cub pitcher ever to win the Cy Young Award, given annually to the league's outstanding pitcher.

Vida Blue of Oakland outpolled Mickey Lolich of Detroit for the American League's Cy Young Award.

Six other pitchers received votes. They were Dock Ellis, Pittsburgh, nine; Bob Gibson, St. Louis, three; Jerry Johnson, San Francisco, two; Dave Roberts, San Diego, two; Juan Marichal, San Francisco, one, and Bill Stoneman, Montreal, one.

Seaver, the 1969 winner, was 20-10 in 1971. He led the league in earned run average, 1.76 and also led in strikeouts, 289, a league record for right-handers.

Downing, a left-hander obtained by the Dodgers from Milwaukee Feb. 10 in a deal for outfielder Andy Kosco, had a 20-6 record and a 2.71 earned run average. In the three previous seasons, he had won a total of only 16 games.

The National League's fourth 20-game winner, Steve Carlton of St. Louis, did not receive a vote.

Gibson won the National League Cy Young Award last year. The American League winner in 1970 was Jim Perry of the Minnesota Twins.

Jenkins was mentioned on 23 of the 24 ballots, where each committee member makes three selections. Points are awarded on a 5-3-1 basis. Seaver was mentioned on 19 ballots and Downing on 18.

In the five season starting with 1967, Jenkins won 20, 20, 21, 22 and 24 games. He has averaged better than 315 innings and 261 strikeouts over those past five seasons. His overall record for six-plus seasons in the majors is 115-81.

Hayes May Not Show For Game Against Knicks

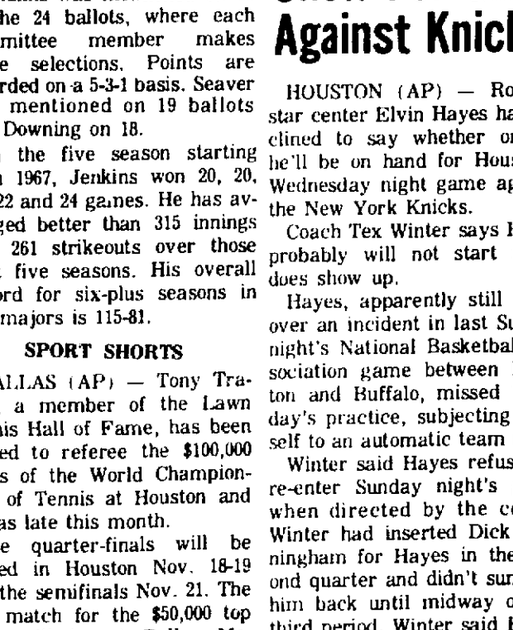

HOUSTON (AP) — Rockets star center Elvin Hayes has declined to say whether or not he'll be on hand for Houston's Wednesday night game against the New York Knicks.

Coach Tex Winter says Hayes probably will not start if he does show up.

Hayes, apparently still upset over an incident in last Sunday night's National Basketball Association game between Houston and Buffalo, missed Tuesday's practice, subjecting himself to an automatic team fine.

Winter said Hayes refused to re-enter Sunday night's game when directed by the coach. Winter had inserted Dick Cunningham for Hayes in the second quarter and didn't summon him back until midway of the third period. Winter said Hayes refused to re-enter the game.

NY Jets Sign Former Arkansas State Player

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Jets football team announced Tuesday the signing of free agent Clovis Swinney of Jonesboro, Ark., in an effort to bolster their injury-riddled defensive line.

Swinney played at Arkansas State, was a third-round pick of New Orleans in the 1970 National Football League draft and then was traded to the Los Angeles Rams, who released him.

Heis 6-foot-3, 249 pounds.

Russell Leads Warriors To 106-91 Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cazzie Russell never had it so good when he played with the New York Knicks.

The former whiz from the University of Michigan, traded during the off-season by the Knicks, pumped in a pro career high of 43 points Tuesday night to lead the Golden State Warriors to a 106-91 victory over Baltimore in the National Basketball Association.

Cazzie sank 16 of his points in the final period to break open a close game as the Warriors won their fourth straight and six of their last seven.

Chet Walker scored nine points in the last two minutes to spark Chicago over Phoenix 108-101 in the other NBA game scheduled.

Russell's 43 points came on 20 field goals and three charity throws as he upped his game average to 26.5 points on 265 points in 10 games. In addition, Cazzie grabbed 15 rebounds. Jack Marin was high for the Bullets with 28 points.

Phoenix wiped out a 12-point deficit to tie Chicago at 98-98 before Walker broke loose in the closing minutes to sew things up for the Bulls. Walker finished with 33 points. Clem Haskins paced the Suns with 22.

Chargers' QB Is Named Offensive Player of Week

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Sometimes the best laid plans go astray and players like San Diego quarterback John Hadl end up as The Associated Press' Offensive Player of the Week in the National Football League.

The Chargers said they hadn't expected to pass so much against the New York Jets, but they said it after Hadl had completed 19 of 27 passes for 358 yards and four touchdowns in a 49-21 rout of the Jets last Sunday.

Just for good measure, the vetean from Kansas also rushed for 38 yards and scored on a two-yard run.

Hadl, who missed breaking his personal one-game passing high as a pro by one yard and missed setting a club record by 12 yards, did not pass during the Chargers last eight offensive plays.

"I wasn't thinking records," said Hadl, who now has had fourteen 300-yard plus passing days as pro. "Records don't mean a thing."

Others considered for Offensive Player of the Week were quarterback George Blanda and receiver Fred Biletnikoff of Oakland, quarterback Dick Shiner of Atlanta and running back Larry Brown of Washington.

The 43-year-old Blanda, who makes last-minute heroics a habit, brought Oakland from a 20-10 deficit to a tie with Kansas City by throwing a touchdown pass and kicking a field goal. Biletnikoff caught seven passes for 128 yards.

Shiner, subbing for the injured Bob Berry, starred for the second straight week by passing for two touchdowns in Atlanta's 31-14 upset victory over Cleveland.

"Brown is the best back we've ever played against," said New Orleans coach J.D. Roberts after the Redskin ran for 120 yards in Washington's 24-14 victory over the Saints.

Orioles Oust Japan 7-0 for 7th Victory

It was the seventh victory for the unbeaten Orioles in eight games. They were held to a 3-3 tie by the Yomiuri Giants Oct. 28.

Expects Price War Over NHL Superstars

CALGARY (AP) — Scotty Munro, executive vice president of the city's franchise in the World Hockey Association, said Tuesday night he is convinced there will be a price war with the National Hockey League.

However, he said it likely would only develop where the NHL has established teams in areas the WHA has awarded franchises.

The World Association, which has scheduled its opening game for Oct. 14, 1972, in Miami, Fla., has awarded franchises to Calgary, Winnipeg, Edmonton, Miami, New York, Chicago, St. Paul, Minn., San Francisco, Los Angeles and Dayton, Ohio.

The NHL has teams in New York, Chicago, Oakland, Los Angeles and Minnesota.

"The price war would develop over NHL superstars under one-year contracts," Munro told a news conference. "The junior player picture should be a clean situation."

Munro said two player agents attended a WHA meeting in New York and reported that more than 50 NHL players were interested in the new professional league.

Munro, coach and general manager of Calgary Centennials in the Western Canada Hockey League, said WHA teams are seeking "no more than eight and no less than five NHL players on their roster."

Hogs Look Good In 1st Day of Contact Drills

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles said Tuesday the cooler weather contributed to a spirited workout as the Razorbacks went through their first day of contact drills this week.

"We had a spirited practice today," Broyles said. "We started thinking about Rice and got with it."

Broyles praised the running of backs Dicky Morton, Mike Saint and John Jenkins following Tuesday's session.

Tailback Jon Richardson and offensive guard Tom Reed missed Tuesday's workout.

Richardson was suffering from a sore throat and Reed has been suffering from a bruised knee.

Both were expected to return to practice today.

Rumors Say Cubs May Move Their SA Farm Team

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The Chicago Cubs have ended their agreement with the local sponsor of their San Antonio farm team, but still have not indicated whether they will move to another city, it was disclosed Tuesday.

One report said the Cubs may move the team, now called the San Antonio Missions, to Midland, Tex

Joe Fischer, president of the San Antonio Sports Association, said the Cubs canceled the agreement last month, saying proposals for increasing revenues were not sufficient.

The San Antonio News said the Cubs would notify San Antonio officials and Texas League President Bobby Bragan of their future plans shortly.

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The sports publicist at San Diego State College, Mike Ryan, didn't think twice when he read the letter, which was similar to a hundred others: "Please send me a brochure as I can't get out to your football games anymore."

But when he looked at the envelope to get an address for the brocuhure, he did a doubletake. The return address read, "Florida State Penitentiary, Raiford, Fla."

Sues to Force Buying Voting Machines

CONWAY, Ark. (AP)— A suit filed Tuesday in Circuit Court here asks for an order to compel the Faulkner County Board of Election Commissioners to initiate a plan to obtain voting machines.

The petition was filed on behalf of Robert T. Kirkwood, a State College of Arkansas biology professor who heads a group called the Citizens Group for Voting Machines.

The suit says that despite public approval of the use of voting machines by a vote of 7,524-4,387 in the November 1968 general election the board has not taken steps to acquire machines.

An attorney general's opinion early in October said that the board was required by the affirmative public vote to obtain the machines.

The opinion went to John F. James, one of the commissioners. He is among the defendants named in the suit. Others are the other two commissioners, Tom Lindsey and Clarence Johnson, and the county judge, Jesse Carter.

The board has maintained that it lacks the funds to initiate purchase or a lease-purchase arrangement for the machines, but the board hired two Conway lawyers to represent it in the suit.

This came even though Pros. Atty. Alex G. Streett of Russellville, who represents Faulkner County, offered his legal assistance in defense of the board after being summoned to Conway by Carter.

Streett said Carter apologized for calling him to Conway and said the board wanted to hire a private attorney.

The board hired George Hartje Jr. and William C. Brazil, who is the son-in-law of Circuit Court Judge Russell C. Roberts.

A hearing on the suit in Roberts' court was set for 9 a.m. Saturday.

Breaks Records To Earn AP Back of The Week

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

For a Flea, which is what he's nicknamed, Eric Allen erased some pretty king-sized names Saturday from Michigan State's record book.

Eric the Flea carried the ball 29 times in the Spartans' 43-10 rout of Purdue and that wiped out Clint Jones of the Minnesota Vikings Joneses, who held the old mark of 268. It also was the most yardage by one running back in a major college football game, eclipsing by three the mark of Michigan's Ron Johnson in 1968.

The stunning outburst—it took Allen five games to gain his first 350 yards this season—also enabled the shifty running back to surpass the one-season record of 1,103 yards Allen has 1,124) held by Sonny Grandelius and the career standard of 2,-093 (Allen has 2,284) set by Lynn Chandnois.

Coach Duffy Daugherty called it "the greatest individual performance I've personally ever witnessed. Eric Allen is the greatest back in the country."

Allen's performance earned the 5-foot-10, 172-pound senior from Georgetown, S.C., national college Back of the Week honors from The Associated Press.

Midway through the fourth period, with the ball on Purdue's 25 and Allen on the sidelines, Daugherty came over and told him: "I've been informed from the press box that you need only 23 yards to set an all-time NCAA rushing record. I'm sending you back and we'll give you the ball every time until you get it."

Battlefield Activity at a Low Level

SAIGON (AP) — Battlefield activity across South Vietnam remained at a low level today. The South Vietnamese Command reported nine enemy attacks, including a 100-round mortar barrage against Fire Base Fuller, just below the demilitarized zone, and a 22-round barrage against an infantry battalion in the central highlands.

No casualties were reported at Fuller, but one infantrymen was killed and nine were wounded in the attack in the highlands 17 miles northeast of Kontum.

The U.S. Command reported that only four of the helicopters damaged by Typhoon Hester on Oct. 23 were beyond repair and said even those contained many parts which can be salvaged.

The command reported earlier that 25 helicopters were destroyed, 33 were seriously damaged, and "others" suffered minor damage. In a revised assessment today, the command said a total of 130 helicopters were damaged.

Vietnam Press, the official government news agency, said that according to latest reports 136 Vietnamese were killed in the typhoon and floods that hit South Vietnam's five northernmost provinces. It said another 162 persons were injured, and more than 50,000 homes and 581 schools were destroyed or damaged.

A big relief program is continuing. President Nguyen Van Thieu toured the stricken areas today.

The U.S. Command also reported that it had succeeded in withdrawing the four artillery pieces left Oct. 22 at Fire Base Pace, along with other heavy equipment and two Americans who stayed behind as custodians. The American troops manning the guns had been taken out of the beseiged base on the Cambodian border by helicopter, but the heavy equipment was left behind until the highway to the base could be cleared of North Vietnamese who had cut it.

Harding College A Cappella Chorus to Hope Nov. 21

Searcy, Ark.—The Harding College A Cappella Chorus will present a program of religious music at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, November 21 at the Church of Christ in Hope.

This is one performance of a nine-day tour the chorus is making. The group will sing in Louisiana, Texas and Arkansas.

Directed by Dr. Kenneth Davis Jr., professor of music at Harding, the 50-member group is made up from the entire chorus of 75 members. The chorus makes two extended tours annually in the United States and sings for civic programs, campus events and religious groups on weekends. Other activity also includes the recording of radio programs for "Hymns from Harding" heard weekly on about 160 radio stations across the country.

The chorus has released several long-play recordings, including favorite hymns and an album of weddings songs. The most recent is a six-volume collection called "Harding's Hundred Hymns."

The tour program consists of five sections of music, including a group of spirituals. "Four Songs From Revelation" by William W. Hollaway, assistant professor of music at Harding, will be sung, as well as two motets, "Jesus Dearest Master" by Bach and "Psalm LI" by Brahms.

Harding is a fully accredited liberal arts college with an enrollment of 2,060 students from 46 states and 17 foreign countries.

Siani Receives AP Award of Lineman of Week

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

VILLANOVA, Pa. (AP) — This had been a disappointing season for Mike Siani. He felt like college football's forgotten man. At least until Saturday night he did.

Saturday night, the 190-pound Villanova end caught 12 passes for 288 yards and five touchdowns in a 33-27 victory over Xavier. The TDs covered 68, 25, 63, 9 and 10 yards. He earned the award as Associated Press National College Lineman of the Week.

Siani finally looked like the pass receiver who unabashedly predicted before the season that he would win the Heisman Trophy as College Player of the Year and make the All-American team.

Last season Siani was the nation's fourth leading college receiver based on receptions per game. He caught 74 and gained 1,358 yards, most yardage in the country. He caught 12 TD passes.

Until Saturday, the 6-foot-3 Siani had 26 receptions for 451 yards and four touchdowns in seven games.

Where have you been, Mike?

"I've been trying to figure that out," said Siani, a senior accounting student at Villanova.

"We've been having our problems and I've been getting about five passes a game thrown to me," he said. "You can't catch when they don't throw to you. Last Saturday they threw me the ball and it resulted in a good night."

Siani said Villanova changed its offense from the professional drop-back type of passing game to the option type maneuver. He said the run has been emphasized more this season.

Villanova Coach Lou Ferry blames Siani's problems on a passing attack which simply isn't as good as it was a year ago.

"We've been throwing interceptions, turning the ball over frequently," Ferry said.

Siani of Staten Island, N.Y., holds all Villanova's pass receiving records and stands fifth nationally on the all-time list of touchdown catches with 29, and sixth for yards gained receiving with 2,555.

Others considered for Lineman of the Week included linebacker Mike Taylor of Michigan, defensive tackle Tony Cristiani of Miami of Florida, linebacker Rodrigo Barnes of Rice, linebacker Steve Aycock of Oklahoma, defensive tackles, Dave Wentworth of Wyoming, and Elmer Allen of Mississippi.

First Canadian To Win Major Baseball Award

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP) — Winning the Cy Young award as the National League's outstanding pitcher is like having "a big star up there beside my name" for Ferguson Jenkins.

The Chatham, Ont., native today became the first Canadian to win a major baseball award when he was named the Cy Young winner by a panel of baseball writers.

Jenkins said in an interview here the award should strengthen his bid for a $100,000 salary when he begins contract negotiations with Chicago Cubs.

"It gives me all the more bargaining power," he said.

"I can't blame the club owners for trying to keep a young player's contract down. If you pay him $100,000 now, in two or three years you might have to pay him $200,000.

"Bob Gibson didn't make $100,000 until he was in the league for 10 years or so; neither did Ted Williams nor Willie Mays. I've only been in the league seven years."

Jenkins was a 20-game winner for the fifth straight year in 1971. But he feels the Cubs' failure to win a pennant in that span has cost him recognition.

"It means a lot to get into a World Series. Everything is centralized in a World Series and therefore there is a lot of national recognition. People put a lot of stock in World Series performances."

It is Jenkins' belief that the 1971 season was his finest.

"I had a lot more runs scored for me this season but I still could have won five or six more games with just one more run.

"It was my best season for wins, productive wins, inning pitched and control. The biggest things for a pitcher are control and concentration and I had both this year."

Jenkins says conditioning and a potent bat helped him pitch so many innings.

"I have never had a sore arm. Near the end of a season your arm becomes tired and you become tired mentally but my arm has never been sore.

"I stay in a lot of games because of my bat. I won eight games last year with my own hits."

Jenkins plans to spend the winter in Chatham where he used to be a first baseman, with his father, his wife, Kathy, and two baby daughters.

He rents a cottage on Lake St. Clair and plans to do a great deal of hunting and fishing before spring training in 1972 rolls around.

Jenkins sets his personal goals for the future high.

"Warren Spahn won 20 games six years in a row on two occasions and had 13 20-game seasons in his career. It would be a great accomplishment to surpass a super ball player like Spahn."

Brown Scores in Basketball And in Politics

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Election Day 1971 was a good day for Roger Brown of the Indiana Pacers.

First Brown, a 29-year-old graduate of Dayton, won an at-large city-county council seat in the minicipal elections in Indianapolis.

Then Brown, a 6-foot-5 American Basketball Association all-star who averaged 20.6 points per game last year, scored 24 points as the Pacers overpowered the Carolina Cougars 137-116.

In other ABA games, Kentucky trimmed Carolina 123-109, Virginia edged Utah 122-119 and Denver downed Pittsburgh 133-114.

Off the court Brown, a native of Brooklyn, N.Y., who now resides in Indianapolis, was one of four slated Republicans who won council seats in the at-large balloting.

Brown, who is black, has been active in police work in Indianapolis. He is a member of the Fraternal Order of Police and often rides with the police through the city's black ghetto, hoping to use his position as a star athlete as an example for disadvantaged youth.

On the court, Brown's 24 points and 10 rebounds helped Indiana raise its season record to 7-2, tops in the ABA West Division. He scored eight consecutive points during the fourth period, when the Pacers put the game out of reach.

High scorer in the game was Carolina rookie Jim McDaniels who scored 45 points, 30 of them in the first half, when the Cougars held a 67-65 lead. But Indiana outscored Carolina 35-22 in the third period, and Brown's outburst in the final quarter put the game out of reach.

Bob Netolicky led the Pacers with 32 points and also pulled down 14 rebounds.

Amber is the hardest known resin.

NFL Player of The Week Hospitalized

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bill Hobbs didn't have much time to celebrate his nomination as The Associated Press Defensive Player of the Week in the National Football League.

He's in the Hospital for a pain that forced him to sleep on the floor Monday night.

"That's tremendous," exulted Hobbs from his bed at Graduate Hospital when informed of the defensive player honor.

Then, not sure he had digested the scope of the selection, Hobbs asked: "That's for the whole NFL?"

Hobbs is an outside linebacker and a member of the Eagles' bomb squad—the group that covers punt and kickoff returns.

Environment Groups Race the Clock

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission and environmental groups raced the clock today—the AEC trying to prepare for a five-megaton nuclear test at remote Amchitka Island and the conservationists trying to block it.

The environmental groups, after losing a district court bid for a preliminary injunction against the underground blast off the coast of Alaska, applied Tuesday to the U.S. Court of Appeals.

Although opponents of the test won the disclosure of eight secret government documents, they appealed the withholding of 10 others which they believe contain crucial information on the blast's environmental hazards. They said the disclosed documents gave new ammunition against the test.

Meanwhile, the AEC lost another day in its final preparations for the blast, code-named Cannikin, which is designed to test a Spartan missile warhead and would release energy equivalent to the explosion of 5 million tons of TNT.

Operations to plug a 6,000-foot hole containing the missile warhead continued to slip behind schedule as rough weather in the Aleutian Islands area plagued ships and planes that will observe the blast's effects.

Completion of preparations originally was expected today, but the AEC announced Tuesday the shot could not go off before Saturday at the earliest. Officials said a few more weeks delay could force cancellation as winter sets in.

The Committee for Nuclear Responsibility, heading seven environmental groups opposed to the test, has said it would carry its appeals to the Supreme Court if necessary.

Japan and Canada have expressed concern over the test, and demonstrators against the blast picketed the White House Tuesday. In Anchorage, 300 young persons marched through the streets chanting protests.

The environmental groups contend the test might set off a damaging earthquake and tidal wave, or perhaps release radioactivity to the atmosphere or the ocean.

Students Help Elect Two Candidates

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A recent law school graduate defeated a two-term incumbent for mayor in Bloomington, Ind., and youth-oriented campaigns helped elect two men to the East Lansing, Mich., City Council Tuesday as student power got its first major test around the nation.

College students themselves won election to local offices in widely scattered areas including Rhode Island, Ohio and Minnesota.

There were few reports of trouble over student residency requirements despite previous controversies about whether newly enfranchised young people should vote in the communities where they attended school or in their hometowns.

In Bloomington, home of Indiana University, Francis X. McCloskey, 32, a Democrat, defeated Mayor John H. Hooker Jr., 45, a Republican, by a margin of 7,201 to 4,628.

McCloskey, a recent graduate of the university's law school, won all but two of the city's 16 precincts and ran especially well in four precincts partly on campus.

The university has an enrollment of 30,000; Bloomington has a population of 32,000.

In East Lansing, site of Michigan State University, nearly 9,000 of some 22,400 voters are below 21 and the two top winners in the city council race both courted student voters.

George L. Griffiths and George Colburn formed a loose coalition with Charles W. Will, 24, a senior at the university who ran his own write-in campaign.

Will, however, finished out of the running.

In Ocala, Fla., David Passman, 19, a sophomore at Central Florida Junior College, placed second in a three-way race for a city council seat and will meet the incumbent in a runoff Nov. 16. Passman said he thought young people "weighed me as a candidate" and did not vote for him because of his age.

Maurren Massiwer, 18, a freshman at Brown University, won a seat on the school committee in Pawtucket, R.I., placing first in a six-way race for three committee posts.

DAR Against Prison Bill

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The United Daughters of the Confederacy is up in arms over a bill designating the Civil War prison camp at Andersonville, Ga., a national historic site.

The UDC says much of the notoriety attached to the prison camp is the result of federal propaganda and that the camp's new status will allow the perpetuation of the "official propaganda."

It has asked Georgia's congressional delegation either to seek the bill's repeal or stop funding of the historic site until Southern groups are allowed to put up their own markers.

Homemakers Learning to Make Lei Beads

Mrs. Alphonso T. Denham, Associate Extension Home Economist, watches Mrs. Wilton Mullins make the Hawaiian Lei Beads. Other beads in the picture are some of the ones homemakers will have an opportunity to make at the workshop.

Mrs. Wilton Mullins, Mrs. Edgar Juris, Mrs. Bob Dillard, and Mrs. Ivan Bright will be assisting with the workshop.

Learn to create and make your own accessory beads. Attend a workshop November 10 in the Douglas Building. The bead making workshop will begin at 9:30 a.m. according to Mrs. Alphonso T. Denham, Associate Extension Home Economist.

Leaders and Mrs. Denham will show homemakers how to make the pearl-crocheted rope and using one and two needles to create different necklaces. This workshop is designed to assist homemakers in being creative and design your own accessories.

Would you like to attend? Call the Extension Office, 777-5771, and register by November 8 or you may register in some of the local stores selling beads.

See a display of some of the necklaces that will be made at the Fabrific Fabric Center.

The Extension Service has had a number of request from homemakers wanting information on crocheted jewelry. This workshop is open to anyone wanting to attend.

Highly Coveted Nobel Prizes Sought by All

STOCKHOLM (AP) — With the dust hardly settled on the 1971 Nobel Prize races, the machinery and rumors are already in motion for the 1972 prizes.

It's taken for granted that many of the people who lost out this year will be prominent in next year's speculation.

Such as Australian novelist Patrick White, a leading contender for the literature prize for several years.

And the seemingly perennial peace prize contenders: Danilo Dolci, the Italian social reformer who battles the Mafia in Sicily; Canon John Collins of St. Paul's Cathedral in London, a pacifist, and Archbishop Helder Camara, the Brazilian Roman Catholic who advocates "pacifist violence."

White lost out to Chilean poet Pablo Neruda, himself a contender for 20 years or more. Some circles speculated that the Communist Neruda won only because President Salvador Allende made him an ambassador to Paris.

The peace prize went to West German Chancellor Willy Brandt, a comparative newcomer to the race.

There was a lot of talk that the economics prize would go to the Soviet Union. Instead it went to a Russian-American, Simon Kuznets of Harvard University.

And there was a lot of talk that Americans would win the physics and chemistry prizes, which they have dominated since the war. But the physics prize was given to a British citizen born in Hungary, Dr. Dennis Gabor, and the chemistry award went to a German-born Canadian, Dr. Gerhard Herzberg.

If Given a Chance to Relive Life Here's Things He Would Change

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — If I had a chance to relive life, the thing I'd try most to do would be to keep it from becoming a rut.

Among other things, I'd—

Sail at least six of the seven seas.

Read "War and Peace" clear through.

Walk the Appalachian Trail.

Climb the Statue of Liberty.

Dance around a maypole.

Catch a greased pig.

Run down a rumor.

Take a half-year off every five years just to do anything that came to mind—and to keep work from drugging my sense of wonder.

Grow three inches taller and keep my waist six inches smaller.

Complain about my woes less and admire the world more. It is, after all, the finest piece of architecture we know.

Sing a duet with Julie Andrews.

Learn how to drive an automobile, make biscuits, and fix a leaky faucet or toilet.

Make a down payment on a castle in Spain—and two in Ireland.

Spend a dozen vacations in Bali and half a one in Brooklyn.

Sleep overnight in Philadelphia.

Tow Las Vegas out to sea and sink it.

Erect the world's largest cigar store Indian in the center of Wyoming as a monument both to the cigar and the Old West.

Dig in an abandoned gold mine and discover a mother lode.

Sell Manhattan back to the Redskins at 10 per cent off the original price.

Beat Minnesota Fats at pool.

Build a lake in every prison yard and stock it with fish for the convicts to catch.

Steer a bobsled to an Olympic victory.

Cap a climax.

Send away a box top and get back Julie Christie plus a year's supply of caviar and a silver spoon to feed her with.

Grapple with a train robber atop the mail car going 90 miles an hour.

Disperse a horse thief's lynching party by a stirring appeal to the mob's sense of fair play.

Give a new green eyeshade and free blue pencil to every newspaper editor in America who has to read copy on a column like this on a day when his ulcers are kicking up.

Film Festival Applauds Both Old and New

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The movie capital finally gets its own film festival, starting Thursday.

By latest count the world's 10th such event, the First Los Angeles International Film Exposition—"Filmex" for short—will be different from most in at least two respects:

1. No awards.

2. Equal billing for landmark films of the past, such as D. W. Griffith's 1929 "Lady of the Pavements," with today's pictures, largely foreign but including Andy Warhol's latest, "Sex."

"The old films are offered as balance, for comparison of the present with what's happened in the past," says a Filmex official. "Most festivals are a celebration of the new rather than a commemoration of the old."

Like the San Francisco and New York festivals, Filmex gives no awards. Juries at Cannes, Berlin, Venice, London, Moscow, Chicago and Atlanta present certificates to winners.

"The first thing we decided was that Filmex would be noncompetitive. Prizes would put it in the category of Cannes and Venice, where people are vying for awards," said festival director Gary Essert.

The festival, which Essert hopes will become an annual event, runs for 11 days and nights at the famed Grauman's Chinese Theater and the Los Angeles County Museum of Art. Besides 40 movie showings there will be panel discussions on topics of interest to filmmakers, such as "Artistic Freedom: Restraints and Responsibilities."

Why should Hollywood, where movies grew up and learned to talk, be so late in having a festival?

Witchita Crash Spurs Reform In Plane Leasing

By DICK BARNES
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Aviation Administration has proposed a "truth in leasing" plan for large airplane users in its latest safety move following the Wichita State University football charter disaster more than a year ago.

The action, published Friday in the Federal Register, puts into the regulatory mill the last of the rules recommendations made to the FAA by a Department of Transportation task force which investigated charter operations.

Secretary of Transportation John Volpe ordered the study shortly after 31 persons died as a result of the crash of Wichita's chartered two-engine plane.

A firm theoretically had leased the plane to Wichita State while a crew was provided from elsewhere. This clouded the question of who was responsible for the plane's operation. The National Transportation Safety Board found the arrangement was a subterfuge designed to evade federal charter rules.

The proposed "truth in leasing" clause would require a copy of any lease or conditional sale of a large or turbine powered, multi-engine aircraft be filed with the FAA.

And the lease would have to contain, in large type, agreement between the lessor and lessee on who was responsible for the aircraft's operation, along with certification by the lessor that the aircraft complied with applicable FAA maintenance and inspection rules.

The proposal does not put the new rule onto the books. The FAA must allow until Jan. 28, 1972, for the public to comment. Three or more months will be taken to digest the comments and set forth the actual rule, which then allows further lead time for notice before it goes into effect.

Two other sets of proposed rules, one concerning maintenance and the other flight plans, were proposed earlier in October by the FAA. It will be at least spring of 1972 before these become final.

Opening lead—♦ A

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Some of Culbertson's ideas were ahead of his time. Some were Culbertson at his worst. He hated no-trump openings. Probably because the old auction bidders never understood when to use them. By 1935 he had finally put a standard no-trump in the Culbertson system but he restricted it to 4-3-3-3 distribution.

Hence Mrs. Culbertson had to open with one spade. This suited Ely's hand to a "T." He had tremendous spade support and was void of diamonds. Furthermore, he had a new Culbertson bid to show it. His four diamond call showed specifically a diamond void and enough for four spades.

Our modern splinter bidders would be proud of Ely's 1935 idea.

Sims was not going to be shut out with his freak hand and went to five clubs, Mrs. Culbertson doubled. She had a home-made diamond lead and rather expected to slaughter the maestro.

The slaughter didn't eventuate. She opened ace and another diamond. Ely ruffed and led the king of hearts. Sims ruffed and played a trump. Jo took her ace and then played spades instead of giving Ely a second diamond ruff. Down only two, less a 100 honors.

Jo many or may not have been wise to give up on the spade slam. A heart lead by North and a club return would almost surely defeat it, but with the normal club opening six would wheel in provided Mrs. Culbertson played North for the queen of trumps.

ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS
WATER AND SEWERAGE IMPROVEMENTS
FULTON, ARKANSAS

Sealed proposals will be received by the Town of Fulton, Fulton, Arkansas, at the Town Hall, Fulton, Arkansas until 2:00 P.M., CST, November 30, 1971, for the construction of water distribution system, water supply well, elevated water storage tank, sewage collection system, sewage pumping stations, and sewerage treatment facilities at which time and place the proposals will be publicly opened and read aloud. Any bids received after closing time will be returned unopened.

Copies of the Plans and Specifications are on file at the Town Hall, Fulton, Arkansas, and in the office of the Engineers, Affiliated Engineers, Inc., Consulting Engineers, P. O. Box 1299, Hot Springs, Arkansas and are open for public inspection. A set of said documents may be obtained from the Engineers upon deposit of Fifty Dollars ($50.00). Fifteen Dollars ($15.00) of this deposit will be refunded to Contractors who submit proposals for the construction work upon return of the plans and specifications in good condition within ten days after date of receiving bids.

Bidding security in the form of a Certified or Cashier's Check or any acceptable Bid Bond, payable to the Town of Fulton, Fulton, Arkansas, in any amount not less than five per cent (5%) of the largest possible total for the bid submitted, must accompany each bid as a guarantee that, if awarded the contract, the bidder will promptly enter into a contract and execute such bonds as may be required.

Each bidder must deposit with his bid, security in the amount and form subject to the conditions provided in the Information for Bidders.

Each bidder who has not previously qualified as a bidder with the Engineers must do so prior to receiving Plans and Specifications.

Attention is also called to the fact that all bidders must be licensed under the terms of Act 124 of the 1939 Acts of the Arkansas General Assembly, as amended.

Bidders on this work will be required to comply with the President's Executive Order No. 11114 and the provisions of Executive Order No. 10925 as included therein. The requirements for Bidders and Contractors under this order are explained in the Specifications.

No bid may be withdrawn after the scheduled closing time for receipt of bids for at least sixty (60) days.

The Owner reserves the right to reject any or all bids or waive formalities.
